

Native Plant Sources in/near South Carolina by Region Accessible to Homeowners (non-Wholesale); Updated Nov 27, 2021

This list features nurseries that emphasize native plants. If you would like to suggest a nursery to add to this list, or if a nursery has closed or has updated information, please email sharleen.p.johnson@gmail.com

Please Note: Many of the native plant sources included below require appointments to shop, so it is strongly recommended to learn more about them via their website or Facebook page – or to reach out by phone or email -- before visiting in person.

Regions:

1. Upstate
2. Rock Hill
3. Columbia
4. Aiken/Augusta
5. South Coast
6. Charleston
7. Myrtle Beach

Region: 1 (Upstate)

SCNPS: Upstate Native Nursery

Category: Non-profit organization

Website: <https://scnps.org/about-the-plants>

Mostly Native? 100%

Description: The SCNPS Upstate chapter established a greenhouse & nursery in 2011 where they propagate and nurture 100+ species of native plants annually, most of which are from genomes native to South Carolina. Details about when and where plants will be available for purchase are provided on the webpage listed above, as well as other helpful information such as native plant descriptions, growing conditions, and more.

Carolina Wild Native Plant Nursery

Category: Mail-order

Website: <http://www.carolinawild.com/welcome.html>

Facebook: <https://www.facebook.com/Carolina-Wild-Native-Plant-Nursery-67353833901/>

Address: 314 Camellia Dr, Anderson, SC

Phone: 864-261-0659

Mostly Native? Yes

Description: "Established in 2002, Carolina Wild is a family owned and operated native plant nursery located in Anderson, SC. We provide quality nursery-propagated native perennials, shrubs, and vines for the Southeastern United States. Our selection encompasses plants for nearly any condition. With over 100 species in our propagation program, almost everyone from beginning gardener to native collectors will find something different and unique for their garden. The source of our parent materials is one of the qualities that make the natives we produce uniquely adapted to this region. Our plants are propagated from seed and stock materials that have been legally harvested, and most come from local sources. Habitats are not destroyed in acquiring our stock plant materials with the exception of rescue sites where destruction is imminent because of construction. Through the use of native plant material, we hope to encourage gardeners to use a more environmentally friendly and ecologically sound approach to gardening. Our native plants are ideal for creating backyard habitats for wildlife, as well as enhancing butterfly and hummingbird gardens. Whether you are creating a new prairie, woodland, or wetland, or restoring an existing site to its former natural glory, we hope to provide the wildflowers needed to achieve your goals."

South Carolina Botanical Garden (Clemson): Seasonal Plant Sales

Category: Non-profit organization

Website (organization): <https://www.clemson.edu/public/scbg/>

Website (plant sale): <https://www.clemson.edu/public/scbg/plant-sale/>

Address: 154 Lacecap Loop (off Perimeter Rd), Clemson, SC

Mostly Native? Some

Description: "Our nursery is an integral part of the Garden. Visits to the nursery can be made via appointment by contacting Misty Shealy, Nursery Manager, at scbgnursery@clemsun.edu. The nursery hosts the Garden's Semiannual Plant Sales (typically in April and September/October), which are major fundraising events for the SCBG, and all profits support operations and enhancements in the garden... SCBG volunteers and garden staff work very hard preparing for these events. Many selections of a wide variety of plants are always available, such as annuals, vegetable transplants and herbs, bog plants, perennials, ferns, shrubs, grasses, trees and fruits and many hard-to-find native plants. The majority of the plants at the sales are produced in the nursery, and many selections are propagated from the SCBG plant collection. A catalog of plant material [is posted on the SCBG plant sale website] approximately 2 weeks before the sale... Several of our partner organizations set up booths at the sale to answer questions about gardening related topics and activities."

Hatcher Garden and Woodland Preserve: Seasonal Plant Sales

Category: Non-profit organization

Website: <https://www.hatchergarden.org/>

Phone: (864) 574-7724

Mostly Native? Some

Description: "Free public garden and nature preserve founded in Spartanburg in 1969 for the community to enjoy, study, and be inspired. Hatcher Garden and Woodland Preserve is open to the public every day of the year during daylight hours. Admission is Free." Offers seasonal plant sale events.

Region: 2 (Rock Hill)

Carolina Heritage Nursery

Category: Backyard nursery + Farmers markets

Facebook: <https://www.facebook.com/CarolinaHeritageNativePlants/>

Address: 6607 Sadler Road, Waxhaw, NC

Phone: 704-877-6934

Mostly Native? Yes

Description: "As more of our land is being developed in the Carolinas, native plant species, which support the rest of nature, are being replaced with plants from other lands, i.e. "exotic" plants. These exotics make up approximately 80% of our landscaping and do little to support native wildlife, often require chemicals and lots of water. Our goal is to provide native plants to folks who want to do something about that! Visit us at the Matthews Community Farmers' Market and the Waxhaw Farmers' Market on alternate weeks, April-June and September-November or on location BY APPOINTMENT ONLY."

Griff's Greenhouse and Nursery

Category: Backyard nursery

Website: Facebook: <https://www.facebook.com/greenhousegriffs/>

Address: 234 Bill Sweatt Rd, Lancaster, SC

Phone: 803-235-5120

Mostly Native? Some

Description: "We are a local family owned greenhouse and nursery who believe in having quality plants at reasonable prices. We have a great variety of annuals, perennials, succulents, vegetable plants, herbs, native plants, and hanging baskets. We are always on the look-out for hard to find and unusual plants. Scot, my youngest son started the business with his dog Griff, yes that is where the name came from....and Scot was called Griff a lot. Scot graduated from Clemson with a degree in Forestry and he is back with trees again... That is how mama is at the greenhouse. I helped on the weekends and from there it grew. I found out how hard he worked, and what all it takes 24/7 to make it happen. It has been a great journey."

Address: 143 Mims Grove Church Rd, North Augusta, SC

Phone: 803-279-2707

Mostly Native? Some

Description: "In January of 1973 when Nurseries Caroliniana opened its doors, we would have had a hard time imagining just how much the business would grow and develop... We have been striving to keep finding new plants suitable for our area as well as encouraging the use of many wonderful natives. One of the reasons our customers like to come and stroll through the nursery is that they never know what they might find... Throughout the growing season we have an extensive selection of herbs, perennials, bedding plants, and vegetable plants. We carry a wide variety of bulk garden seeds as well as packaged specialty seeds... we also carry the usual fertilizers, chemicals and tools... If you are coming from out of town and want a specific plant, please call ahead and send us a list of your wants. Many of our unusual plants sell out almost as soon as they are ready."

South Carolina Ecotype Seeds

Category: Mail-order

Email: pollinator@sc.rr.com

Location: Hemingway, SC

Native tree, shrub, and wildflower seeds, hand collected 2021 in the Pee Dee region of coastal South Carolina, suitable for pollinator and/or wildlife gardens. Some are great for wetlands. These include Eastern Redbud, American Sycamore, Southern Catalpa, Southern Magnolia, American Persimmon, Cabbage Palmetto, Carolina Laurel Cherry, Flowering Dogwood, Winged Sumac, Trumpet Vine, Swamp Titi, Narrow-leaf Cattail, Beauty Berry, Goldenrod, and Blue Mistflower. Some of these are in the form of dried berries. Magnolia can be gotten as berries, or extracted seeds, at a higher cost. There are limited amounts of Live Oak and Water Oak acorns. Other seeds are coming; some are not yet mature enough to gather. The magnolia and oaks are shipped damp, and should not be allowed to dry out, or germination will be reduced. Packets are $3 each, except for acorns and extracted magnolia. Most of these seeds can be shipped in a first-class letter, so include a buck for shipping, if you only want a couple packets. If you order six packs or more, the cost is $2.50 each, and shipping is on me. Acorns are too bulky for letter shipping, so message me for info on availability and cost of parcel post shipping. All acorns are float tested to try to eliminate wormy ones. Most native perennials need a period of cold to germinate, so must be fall planted (with protection from rodents), or cold stratified in the fridge. (This is not a money-making project, unless I sell a lot more than I expect; it's mainly to recoup the cost of collecting. I have no plants for sale currently but hope to within a year or so.)
